Are you interested in a challenging opportunity that ensures Ontario mines are properly rehabilitated to public health, safety and environmental standards upon closure? Consider a rewarding career as a Rehabilitation, Inspection, and Compliance Officer!

The Ministry of Northern Development and Mines seeks a dynamic, highly motivated individual with strong technical knowledge and negotiation skills for a key role in the Mine Rehabilitation program. You will be responsible for coordinating compliance audits and action plans for mine closures, undertaking enforcement activities, as well as preparing crown briefs and court documents. Providing testimony before court and judicial hearings and coordinating emergency response activities including site restoration will also be components of this role. In addition, you will provide expert advice to other agencies and the public and respond to complaints and enquiries.

Qualifications: knowledge of and experience in safety and environmental investigation techniques, due process of law, rules of evidence, and court procedures; knowledge of mining and exploration, as well as the ability to interpret and apply mining and other related legislation, including the Environmental Protection Act and Occupational Health and Safety Act; ability to interpret and apply mine rehabilitation legislation, as well as knowledge of mine rehabilitation theories and practices; proven negotiation and communication skills; ability to coordinate emergency activities, including site restoration and liaising with regulatory agencies, site owners, officials, and/or other concerned parties; ability to carry out field investigations under adverse conditions; valid driver's license to travel to conduct field investigations.
